Issues of the manor

The same renders account for 18d for ploughing-service of 3 acres land sold at the time of sowing barley. And for 11s 10d for animals agisted in pasture in summer item by item. For pasturage sold of a certain ditch beside the road around [circa] the church† of Morden nothing this year because the field around the same sown with oats. For pasture<sup>And for 5s 6d for pasturage</sup> at Haggethorne sold ~~nothing~~ this year, <sup>and no more</sup> because part sown ~~and part pastured~~ by his [ie the lord's] own animals. For pasturage at Neuburicrofte sold nothing this year because sown with wheat. For weaning lambs in summer, nothing this year. † The equivalent entry in similar accounts normally has citra rather than circa.

‡ In this context 'per manum' probably means that the cheese was sold in pieces and not by the whole cheese. Not much seems to be known about the sale of cheese on a small scale, and this entry may be of considerable interest. – Barbara Harvey Jan 2008.

<sup>**</sup> The sum for 4 calves has been altered but looks like 7s 8d. The 8d added for geese seems to have been omitted from the total, which should be 56s 6½d. The difference between the old and new totals is 2s, which would be the 3s for the hides minus the extra 1s for the calves.
