^{††} This account has a similar entry for each of type of corn, etc. The final entry in each section, for corn sold at the audit, normally referred to grain not accounted for in the list of outgoing, but in this roll it would appear that the auditors questioned the yield, which was less than the reeve answered to, or was answerable for. Does this represent a set quota which he failed to achieve?
^{§§} Actually works out to 20 quarters 3 bushels 3 pecks.

6d
