

Cannizaro Park : Wimbledon's Cultural Gem

Cannizaro House was once a major social centre for royalty and senior politicians. Former residents include a music-loving Scottish heiress, an exiled Maharajah and a wealthy shipowner.

The property has witnessed scandal, fire and transformation into a luxury hotel. A haven for wildlife the surrounding park boasts links to everything from the Home Guard and opera, to Rastafarian religion.

Discover more about this fascinating property at this illustrated talk by Heritage Officer, Sarah Gould.
