PRIORS OF MERTON.

Vol. I. p. 253.

John Bowle is said [by Mr. Manning] to have been the last Prior, and to have surrendered the Priory 16 April, 29 Hen. VIII. 1538: the date should have been 1539, the 16 April 1539 being in the 29th year; the authorities for this assertion as given in the notes there, are, Frith's Catalogue of the Canons of Windsor. Cartul. Merton p. Thomas Astle Esq. Willis Abb. II. 252. Frith ubi sup. Ath. I. 690.

Wood, in his Athen. Oxon. mentions John Powle or Bowle was admitted M. A. 11 May 1537, and quotes Frith's Cat. of Canons of Windsor (a MS. in his possession), as being there reported to have been lately Prior of Merton in Surrey, and that dying at Windsor 15 August 1558, he was buried there.

Willis II. 232, says William Sellinge occurs Prior in 1503 as Wood informs us; I presume he was succeeded by John Bowle the last Prior, who with 14 Monks surrendered this Monastery 16 April 29 Henry VIII. and had a pension assigned him. He was afterwards preferred to a Canonry of Windsor, and died there 1558.

By the fac-simile of the surrender in the Plate, vol. I. p. 370, it appears that Wood and Willis were incorrect in stating that John Bowle surrendered the Priory, which was the act of John Ramsay. Frith's MS. only reports him to have been Prior of Merton, but in fact he never was so. In a Court Roll of the manor of Biggin and Tamworth, in the hands of Mr. Barnes, a Court of John Ramsay Prior of Merton was held 3 October, 29 Henry VIII. which was in 1538; the surrender was made 16 April following, by John Ramsay Prior.

20 Edw. IV. 1481, a writ was directed to the Sheriff to levy of the goods of John Kyngston Prior of Merton and of the Convent, 40s. which they owed to the Queen for her gold, of a fine of 201. paid for confirmation of their charters by letters patent. Prynne's Aurum Reginæ, p. 93.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

In the Spring of 1812 there was turned up by the plough a gold Rial of King James I. in a field belonging to the Manor Farm. The field is by the road side leading to Kingston, and the Farm belongs to Mr. Hilbert the Lord of the manor. There have been several Coins found at various times in the same field, but disposed of by those who found them; and no account of them is to be obtained. It may be presumed they had been hid during the troubles which followed the reign of the above Monarch.

ADDITIONAL BENEFACTIONS, 1808.—John Middleton Esq. of West Barnes, gave an Annuity of one pound in the three per cent. consols. to be distributed in bread annually on the Sunday before Christmas.—1810. Mrs. Mary Batts gave by Will an Annuity of 7l. 10s, in the three per cent. consols. to be distributed in Coals to poor Housekeepers (not usually receiving Alms), annually on Candlemas Day.

MERTON.

Vol. I. p. 264.

15 Aug. 1811, Mr. Middleton writes to the Editor: The bricks sent herewith were in my presence dug out of the ruins of an ancient arch that had crossed a small rivulet or common sewer at West Barns in Merton, in the land of C. F. Bond Esq. about a hundred yards on the East side of a very old farm house, moated round, which formerly belonged to the Abbat and Monks of Merton. From this bridgeway the road lies along an old lane, which has been raised above the level of the meadows on each side, perhaps five feet, for about a third of a mile in a direction towards Wimbleton until it joins at right angles the present parish highway between Merton and Kingston. These bricks have the appearance of such as are usually denominated Roman, and the bridgeway and raised road are nearly in a line between Wimbledon and Worcester Park.

In Merton Church-yard, on a neat Table Monument inclosed with iron railing is inscribed : In Memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Dallett late wife of Mr. Richard Dallett of this Parish, who departed this life April 12th, 1781. Also the above Mr. Richard Dallett, who died March 27, 1783, aged 73 years. Also Judith Jenkinson of this Parish, daughter of the above Richard and Elizabeth Dallett who died July 29, 1813, in her 69th year. On the end is inscribed: This Vault was erected in June 1811; and on one of the sides is inscribed, In Memory of Richard Dallett Esq. son of the above Richard and Elizabeth Dallett (of this Parish), who departed this life the 11th of March 1813, aged 74 years.

Of the antiquity of this name, it may be remarked that Adam de Buxeto is witness to a deed without date, of the time of King John or Henry III. at least.

MITCHAM.

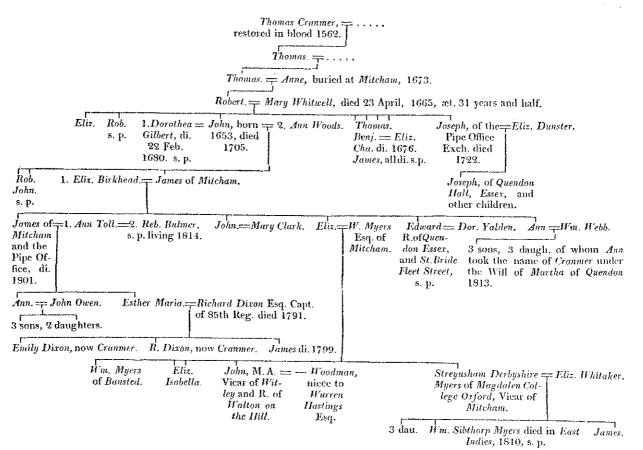

Vol. 11. p. 479.

Mr. Cranmer who died in 1665, left seven sons, the elder of whom Robert died immediately before his coming of age, in consequence of which John, the second son, inherited the estate, subject to claims of his younger brothers under the father's Will, all of which he discharged. He sold the corn tithe to Mr. Batt, the tithe hay remaining with the vicarage; John died in 1705, and was succeeded by his son James, who died 5 June 1752, leaving James his son and heir; the latter died 5 June 1801, and by his Will devised his estate to his second wife Rebecca for life, remainder to his daughter Esther Maria, wife of Richard Dixon Esq. late Captain in the 85th Regiment of Foot, for life, with remainder to her son Richard and his issue male, remainder to her daughter Emily Dixon, they taking the name of Cranmer, which they have done. Mrs. Rebecca Cranmer is living, and now holds the estate ^c.

e The above is from the very obliging information of the Rev. Mr. Cranmer.

Sir Walter Raleigh had a house and estate here in right of his wife, who was a daughter of Sir Nicholas Throgmorton, and had been maid of honour to Queen Elizabeth. The estate was sold for 25001. when he was preparing for his expedition to Guiana⁴. There is a house on the right hand side of the road from London to Sutton, at the corner of Whitford Lane, now called Ralegh House, kept as an academy by Mrs. Hodgson, as it had been before by Mr. Dempster. From the following circumstances communicated by the Rev. Mr. Cranmer, there is every reason to believe this was Sin Walter's house. The house has been much altered, and probably curtailed. There is a spacious staircase supported by a round piece of timber, which tradition says is part of the mast of a Spanish ship taken by Sir Walter; in another part of the house, now used as a dairy, is a similar post, which also formerly supported a staircase, as is evident from one of the stairs being accidentally left at the top of the room, under the present ceiling. In several rooms the wainscot bears evident marks of antiquity. Ancient windows were taken away by Mr. Oxteby of Mitcham, the present owner. Previous to the occupation by Mr. Dempster, it is said that in the house was a picture of Sir Walter represented as smoking a pipe, and a servant supposing his master to be on fire, throwing water on him to extinguish it.

In addition to this, the garden is now very extensive, and has been much more so. Part of it was sold to the Governors of Queen Anne's Bounty for the augmentation of the vicarage, and some houses in Whitford Lane have been built on other part of it. In the garden a terrace walk remains with a row of trees on each side; these trees are not ancient, but have probably been planted in the room of original ones cut down.

Part of Sir Julius Cæsur's house still remains, see vol. II. p. 495. but part has been lately taken down, and some new houses built on the ground.

There is another large ancient house at Mitcham, called Old Bethlehem, or Bedlam, now lett in tenements to poor people; the rooms are good, with large ancient windows; no account is obtained of it. It belongs to William Plumer Esq. late member for Herts.

Near the Church is an ancient Mansion house, late belonging to Mr. Edward Tanner Worsfold, maltster, deceased. The room in which he placed his horse-mill for grinding malt, is large, and open to the roof, without any appearance of there having been any floor across it. It was the estate of Bartholomew Fromondes Esq. and by him conveyed in 1624 (with other houses there) to Sir John Leigh and Sir Francis Leigh, and the heirs of Sir Francis, by the description of the capital messuage called Hall Place in Mitcham in the occupation of Sir

John Leigh. It afterwards appears that the Chancel on the North side of Mitcham Church belonged to this house. In 1627 Sir Francis sold it to Gabriel Colstone Gent. who sold it to Rowland Wilson Esq. Wilson died in or before 1664; he had two daughters, one of whom Mary, married, first, Crispe, and afterwards Rowe; Wilson's other daughter Elizabeth married Whyte. Mary had issue by Crispe, Ellis Crispe her son and heir apparent; and Elizabeth had issue Edmund Whyte her son and heir. Mrs. Crispe and her son, and Mr. Edmund Whyte in 1664 sold to John Carleton Gent. In 1672 John Carleton sold it to Thomas Cooke, who left a son and heir named Thomas, and he left James Cooke his son and heir.—In 1729, this appears to have been converted into a malting-house, and it has probably been so used ever since.

MORDEN.

Vol. II. p. 494.

On a separate Board inscribed, Donation 1810, is the following: Mary Batts of Merton Surrey, Spinster, bequeathed 7l. 10s. per annum to be distributed in coals annually on Candlemas Day amongst such of the industrious Poor of the Parish of Morden Surrey, as are not in the habit of being relieved by the Parish; and her Executors for that purpose transferred on April 11th, 1810, 250l. 3 per cent. consols. into the names of the Rev. John Witherington Peers Rector of this Parish, John Hammond and James Whitbread Atkinson the Churchwardens, and Jonathan Acres one of the Overseers of the Poor of the said Parish.

MORTLAKE.

Vol. III. p. 310.

On the North side of the Communion Table is a very handsome white marble Monument by Westmacott, representing a lady on a couch with her hands held up in a praying posture; she is supported at the shoulders by a female figure pointing to another female figure holding a Cross at the feet of the couch. Another female figure with a child in her arms, and one close to her, is weeping at the feet of the lady. At the top of the Monument is inscribed: Sacred to the Memory of Ursula Mary daughter and coheiress of Leonard Hammond of Cheame in the county of Surrey Esq. and wife of Henry Viscount Sidmouth, by whom this Monument was erected, in testimony of profound regret and indissoluble attachment; born May 14, 1760, died June 23, 1811.

Not that to mortal eyes thy spotless life, Shew'd the best form of parent, child, and wife; Not that thy vital current seem'd to glide Clear and unmix'd through the world's troublous tide, That grace and beauty form'd each heart to win, Seem'd but the casket to the gem within ; Not hence the fond presumption of our love, Which lifts thy spirit to the Saints above ; But that pure Piety's consoling power, Thy life illumn'd, and cheer'd thy parting hour; That each best gift of charity was thine, The liberal feeling, and the grace divine; And e'en thy virtues humbled in the dust, In Heaven's sure promise was thine only trust; Sooth'd by that Hope, Affection checks the sigh, And hails the day-spring of Eternity.
